INSPECTION CONCERNS: Fay Shale 1.) As per Part II, Section B.1. of your permit; the Operator & other parties involved with drilling activities shall be prohibited from disposing into the pit any waste oil, hydraulic fluids, transmission fluids, frac fluids, trash or any other miscellaneous rig waste. The site's separators are connected to frac tanks & depositing "flowback water" into the site's reserve pit. Flowback water is residual frac fluid and is prohibited from being stored in reserve pits. 2.) As per Part II, Section B.4. of your permit; the pit shall contain only water-based drilling fluids generated during the drilling of the well or wells at the single location at which it is constructed. In the event of an emergency, the pit may be used for additional storage of water-based drilling fluids from the same or an adjacent site, provided that the event shall be reported to the Department immediately. The site's separators are connected to frac tanks & depositing "flowback water" into the site's reserve pit. The drilling rig has been offsite since April 1, 2011(per AOGC's Form 3 "Producer's Completion & Recompletion Report" for Drilling Permit# 43562 & 43563); and there was NO active drilling occurring during the inspection. In a letter dated April 27, 2011 Southwestern Energy was denied permission to use existing reserve pits for emergency temporary storage of prohibited fluids by ADEQ. INSPECTION COMMENT: Comments: There is a reserve pit onsite. The site's separators are connected to two frac tanks with hosing leading into the reserve pit. The Operator has been depositing flowback water into the reserve pit. The wells are currently producing & a produced water tank
